CRIMINAL JURISDICTION

1 Introduction

A crime is the commission of an act that is forbidden by statute or the omission of an act that is required by statute.

The Penal Code – Cap 26 (PC) sets out those acts that are crimes in the Solomon Islands. There are different categories of crime, and the category of crime determines which Court has jurisdiction to hear and determine the matter.

Other legislation establishes offences, for example:

- the Traffic Act;
- the Firearms and Ammunition Act;
- the Liquor Act;
- the National Provident Fund Act.

This chapter lists the offences within the jurisdiction of the Magistrates' Courts, under the Penal Code and Traffic Act and Regulations. It does not, however, provide a complete list of all criminal matters which may come before you. You must always check whether you have jurisdiction to hear a criminal matter.

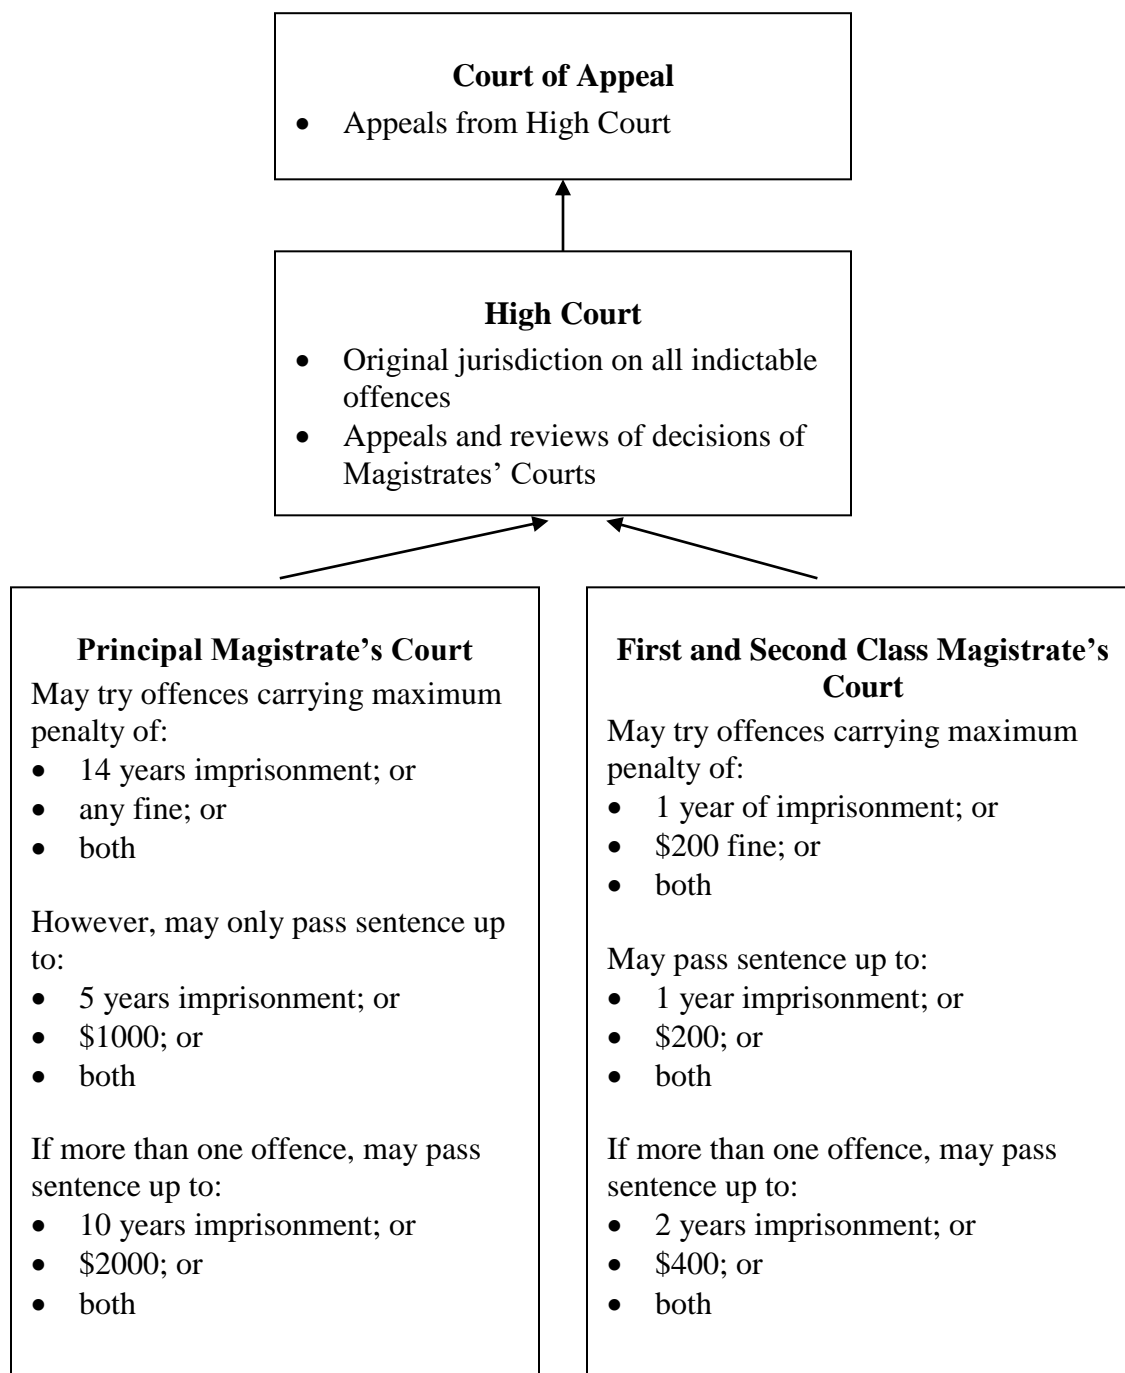

Guidance on some of the common offences are also provided, for quick reference. You may wish to add to these yourself, and share your additions with your judicial colleagues.

2 Criminal Jurisdiction of the Magistrates' Courts

For a detailed explanation of the criminal jurisdiction of the Magistrates' Courts, see Chapter 4 "The Magistrate's Court", paragraph 4.

The figure on the following page shows which Courts may hear which offences.

2.1 Table of Criminal Jurisdiction under the Penal Code

The following table lists the name and section of major offences set out in the Penal Code, and provides the maximum sentence that may be imposed and which Court has jurisdiction to hear the offence.

Use this table as a quick reference guide to determine if you have jurisdiction to hear a particular offence.
