PART III TERRITORIAL APPLICATION OF THIS CODE

5 Application of Code

Subject to the provisions of this Code, this Code shall apply to every place within Solomon Islands or within the territorial limits thereof.

6 Offences committed partly within and partly beyond the jurisdiction

When an act which, if wholly done within the jurisdiction of the court, would be an offence against this Code, is done partly within and partly beyond the jurisdiction, every person who within the jurisdiction does or makes any part of such act may be tried and punished under this Code in the same manner as if such act had been done wholly within the jurisdiction.

PART IV GENERAL RULES AS TO CRIMINAL RESPONSIBILITY

7 Ignorance of law

Ignorance of the law does not afford any excuse for any act or omission which would otherwise constitute an offence unless knowledge of the law by the offender is expressly declared to be an element of the offence.

8 Bona fide claim of right

A person is not criminally responsible in respect of an offence relating to property, if the act done or omitted to be done by him with respect to the property was done in the exercise of an honest claim of right and without intention to defraud.

9 Intention

Subject to the express provisions of this Code relating to negligent acts and omissions, a person is not criminally responsible for an act or omission which occurs independently of the exercise of his will, or for an event which occurs by accident.

Unless the intention to cause a particular result is expressly declared to be an element of the offence constituted, in whole or part, by an act or omission, the result intended to be caused by an act or omission is immaterial.

Unless otherwise expressly declared, the motive by which a person is induced to do or omit to do an act or to form an intention is immaterial so far as regards criminal responsibility.

10 Mistake of fact

A person who does or omits to do an act under an honest and reasonable, but mistaken, belief in the existence of any state of things is not criminally responsible for the act or omission to any greater extent than if the real state of things had been such as he believed to exist.

The operation of this rule may be excluded by the express or implied provisions of the law relating to the subject.

11 Presumption of sanity

Every person is presumed to be of sound mind, and to have been of sound mind at any time which comes in question, until the contrary is proved.

12 Insanity

Subject to the express provisions of this Code and of any other law in force a person shall not be criminally responsible for an act or omission if at the time of doing the act or making the omission he is through any disease affecting his mind incapable of understanding what he is doing, or of knowing that he ought not to do the act or make the omission:

Provided that a person may be criminally responsible for an act or omission, although his mind is affected by disease, if such disease does not in fact produce upon his mind one or other of the effects above mentioned in reference to that act or omission.

13 Intoxication

- (1) Save as provided in this section intoxication shall not constitute a defence to any criminal charge.
- (2) Intoxication shall be a defence to any criminal charge if by reason thereof the person charged at the time of the act or omission complained of did not know that such act or omission was wrong or did not know what he was doing and:
 - (a) the state of intoxication was caused without his consent by the malicious or negligent act of another person; or
 - (b) the person charged was by reason of intoxication insane, temporarily or otherwise, at the time of such act or omission.
- (3) Where the defence under the preceding subsection is established, then in a case falling under paragraph (a) thereof the accused shall be discharged and in a case falling under paragraph (b) the provisions of this Code and of the Criminal Procedure Code relating to insanity shall apply.
- (4) Intoxication shall be taken into account for the purpose of determining whether the person charged had formed any intention, specific or otherwise, in the absence of which he would not be guilty of the offence.
- (5) For the purpose of this section “intoxication” shall be deemed to include a state produced by narcotics or drugs.

14 Immature age

A person under the age of eight years is not criminally responsible for any act or omission.

A person under the age of twelve years is not criminally responsible for an act or omission, unless it is proved that at the time of doing the act or making the omission he had capacity to know that he ought not to do the act or make the omission.

A male person under the age of twelve years is presumed to be incapable of having sexual intercourse.

15 Judicial officers

Except as expressly provided by this Code, a judicial officer is not criminally responsible for anything done or omitted to be done by him in the exercise of his judicial functions, although the act done is in excess of his judicial authority or although he is bound to do the act omitted to be done.

16 Compulsion

A person is not criminally responsible for an offence if it is committed by two or more offenders, and if the act is done or omitted only because during the whole of the time in which it is being done or omitted the person is compelled to do or omit to do the act by threats on the part of the other offender or offenders instantly to kill him or do him grievous bodily harm if he refuses; but threats of future injury do not excuse any offence.

17 Defence of person or property

Subject to any express provisions in this Code or any other law in operation in Solomon Islands, criminal responsibility for the use of force in the defence of person or property shall be determined according to the principles of English common law.

18 Use of force in effecting arrest

Where any person is charged with a criminal offence arising out of the lawful arrest, or attempted arrest, by him of a person who forcibly resists such arrest or attempts to evade being arrested, the court shall, in considering whether the means used were necessary, or the degree of force used was reasonable, for the apprehension of such person, have regard to the gravity of the offence which had been or was being committed by such person and the circumstances in which such offence had been or was being committed by such person.

19 Compulsion by spouse

A married person is not free from criminal responsibility for doing or omitting to do an act merely because the act or omission takes place in the presence of that person's spouse; but on a charge against a married person for any offence other than treason or murder, it shall be a good defence to prove that the offence was committed in the presence of and under the coercion of that person's spouse.

20 Person not to be punished twice for same offence

A person cannot be convicted of more than one criminal offence (either under this Code or another written law) for the same act or omission, except in the case where the act or omission is such that by means thereof he causes the death of another person, in which case he may be convicted of the offence of which he is guilty by reason of causing such death, notwithstanding that he has already been convicted of some other offence constituted by the act or omission.

PART V PARTIES TO OFFENCES

21 Principal offenders

When an offence is committed, each of the follow persons is deemed to have taken part in committing the offence and to be guilty of the offence, and may be charged with actually committing it, that is to say:

- (a) every person who actually does the act or makes the omission which constitutes the offence;
- (b) every person who does or omits to do any act for the purpose of enabling or aiding another person to commit the offence;
- (c) every person who aids or abets another person in committing the offence;
- (d) any person who counsels or procures any other person to commit the offence;

In the last-mentioned case he may be charged either with committing the offence or with counselling or procuring its commission.

A conviction of counselling or procuring the commission of an offence entails the same consequences in all respects as a conviction of committing the offence.

Any person who procures another to do or omit to do any act of such a nature that, if he had himself done the act or made the omission, the act or omission would have constituted an offence on his part, is guilty of an offence of the same kind, and is liable to the same punishment, as if he had himself done the act or made the omission; and he may be charged with doing the act or making the omission.

22 Offences committed by joint offenders in prosecution of common purpose

When two or more persons form a common intention to prosecute an unlawful purpose in conjunction with one another, and in the prosecution of such purpose an offence is committed of such a nature that its commission was a probable consequence of the prosecution of such purpose, each of them is deemed to have committed the offence.

23 Counselling another to commit an offence

When a person counsels another to commit an offence, and an offence is actually committed after such counsel by the person to whom it is given, it is immaterial whether the offence actually committed is the same as that counselled or a different one, or whether the offence is committed in the way counselled or in a different way, provided in either case that the facts constituting the offence actually committed are a probable consequence of carrying out the counsel.

In either case the person who gave the counsel is deemed to have counselled the other person to commit the offence actually committed by him.

If the facts constituting the offence actually committed are not a probable consequence of carrying out the counsel, the person who gave the counsel is not deemed to be responsible.

PART VI PUNISHMENTS

24 Imprisonment

- (1) All imprisonment for an offence shall be without hard labour.

- (2) A person liable to imprisonment for life or any other period may be sentenced for any shorter term.
- (3) A person liable to imprisonment for an offence may be sentenced to pay a fine in addition to or instead of imprisonment.

Subject to the provisions of this section every sentence shall be deemed to commence from and to include the whole of the day on which it was pronounced except where otherwise provided in this Code or otherwise ordered by the court.

25 Fines

Where a fine is imposed under any law, then in the absence of express provisions relating to such fine in such law the following provisions shall apply:

- (a) where no sum is expressed to which the fine may extend, the amount of the fine which may be imposed is unlimited, but shall not be excessive;
- (b) where the sum to which the fine may amount is expressed, any lesser fine may be imposed;

- (c) in the case of an offence punishable with a fine or a term of imprisonment the imposition of a fine or a term of imprisonment shall be a matter for the discretion of the court;
- (d) in the case of an offence punishable with imprisonment as well as a fine in which the offender is sentenced to a fine with or without imprisonment and in every case of an offence punishable with fine only in which the offender is sentenced to a fine the court passing sentence may, in its discretion:
 - (i) direct by its sentence that in default of payment of the fine the offender shall suffer imprisonment for a certain term, which imprisonment shall be in addition to any other imprisonment to which he may have been sentenced or to which he may be liable under a commutation of sentence; and also
 - (ii) issue a warrant for the levy of the amount on the immovable and movable property of the offender by distress and sale under warrant:

Provided that if the sentence directs that in default of payment of the fine the offender shall be imprisoned, and if such offender has undergone the whole of such imprisonment in default, no court shall issue a distress warrant.

26 Imprisonment in default of payment of fine

- (1) The term of imprisonment to which a person may be sentenced by a court in default of payment of a fine shall be such term as in the opinion of the court will satisfy the justice of the case but shall not exceed the maximum fixed by the following scale:

27 Compensation

Any person convicted of an offence may be ordered to make compensation to any person injured by his offence and such compensation may be either in addition to or in substitution for any other punishment.

28 Distress

- (1) When a court orders money to be paid by an accused person or by a prosecutor or complainant for fine, penalty, compensation, costs, expenses or otherwise, the money may be levied on the movable and immovable property under warrant. If he shows sufficient movable property to satisfy the order his immovable property shall not be sold.

- (2) Such person may pay or tender to the officer having the execution of the warrant the sum therein mentioned, together with the amount of the expenses of the distress up to the time of payment or tender, and thereupon the officer shall cease to execute the same.
- (3) A warrant under this section may be executed within the territorial limits of the jurisdiction of the court issuing the same, and it shall authorise the distress and sale of any property belonging to such person without such limits when endorsed by a Magistrate within the territorial limits of whose jurisdiction such property is found.
- (4) Any person claiming to be entitled to or to have a legal or equitable interest in the whole or part of any property attached in execution of a warrant issued under this section may, at any time prior to the receipt by the court of the proceeds of sale of such property, give notice in writing to the court of his objection to the attachment of such property. Such notice shall set out shortly the nature of the claim which such person (hereinafter in this section referred to as the objector) makes to the whole or part of the property attached, and shall certify the value of the property claimed by him. Such notice shall specify the time and place fixed for the appearance of the objector and shall direct the person upon whom the notice is served to appear before the court at the same time and place if he wishes to be heard upon the hearing of the objection.

- (8) Upon the date fixed for the hearing of the objection, the court shall investigate the claim and, for such purpose, may hear any evidence which the objector may give or adduce and any evidence given or adduced by any person served with a notice in accordance with the provisions of subsection (7) of this section.
- (9) If, upon investigation of the claim, the court is satisfied that the property was not, when attached, in the possession of the person ordered to pay the money or of some person in trust for him or in the occupancy of a tenant or other person paying rent to him, or that, being in the possession of the person ordered to pay the money at such time it was so in his possession not on his own account or as his own property but on account of or in trust for some other person or partly on his own account and partly on account of some other person, the court shall make an order releasing the property, wholly or to such extent as it thinks fit, from attachment.
- (10) If, upon the date fixed for his appearance, the objector fails to appear, or if, upon investigation of the claim in accordance with the provisions of subsection (8) of this section, the court is of opinion that the objector has failed to establish his claim, the court shall order the attachment and execution to proceed, and shall make such order as to costs as it deems fit.
- (11) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to deprive a person who has failed to comply with the requirements of subsection (4) of this section of the right to take any other proceedings which, apart from the provisions of this section, may lawfully be taken by a person claiming an interest in property attached under a warrant.
- (12) No distress made under this section shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any person making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the summons, conviction, warrant of distress or other proceedings relating thereto.

29 Suspension of execution of sentence of imprisonment in default of a fine

- (1) When a convicted person has been sentenced to a fine only and to imprisonment in default of payment of a fine, and whether or not a warrant of distress has been issued under section 28, the court may make an order directing the fine to be paid on or before a specified date, not being more than thirty days from the date of the order, and in the event of the fine not being paid on or before that date may, subject to the other provisions of this section, forthwith issue a warrant of committal. The court may, before making such order, require the convicted person to execute a bond, with or without sureties, conditioned for his appearance before the court on the specified date if the fine be not in the meantime paid. Upon the making of an order under this subsection the sentence of imprisonment shall be deemed to be suspended and the convicted person shall be released from custody.

- (2) In any case in which an order for the payment of money has been made, on non-recovery of which imprisonment may be awarded, and the money is not paid forthwith, the court may require the person ordered to make such payment to enter into a bond as prescribed in subsection (1) of this section, and in default of his so doing may at once pass sentence of imprisonment as if the money had not been recovered.
- (3) The court may in its discretion direct that any money to which this section applies may be paid by instalments at such times and in such amounts as the court may deem fit; but so nevertheless that in default of payment of any such instalment as aforesaid the whole of the amount outstanding shall become and be immediately due and payable, and all the provisions of this Code applicable to a sentence of fine and to imprisonment in default of payment thereof shall apply to the same accordingly.
- (4) A warrant of commitment to prison in respect of the non-payment of any sum of money by a person to whom time has been allowed for payment under the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, or who has been allowed to pay by instalments under the provisions of subsection (3) of this section, shall not be issued unless the court shall first make inquiry as to his means in his presence:

Provided that a court may issue such a warrant of commitment without any further inquiry as to means if it shall have made such inquiry in the presence of the convicted person at the time when the fine was imposed or at any subsequent time and the convicted person shall not before the expiration of the time for payment have notified the court of any change in his means or applied to the court for an extension of time to pay the fine.

- (5) After making inquiry in accordance with the provisions of subsection (4) of this section, the court may, if it thinks fit, instead of issuing a warrant of commitment to prison, make an order extending the time allowed for payment or varying the amount of the instalments or the times at which the instalments were, by the previous order of the court, directed to be paid, as the case may be.
- (6) For the purpose of enabling inquiry to be made under the provisions of subsection (4) of this section, the court may issue a summons to the person ordered to pay the money to appear before it and, if he does not appear in obedience to the summons, may issue a warrant for his arrest or, without issuing a summons, issue in the first instance a warrant for his arrest.

30 Commitment in lieu of distress

- (1) If the officer having the execution of a warrant of distress reports that he could find no property or not sufficient property whereon to levy the money mentioned in the warrant with expenses, the court may by the same or a subsequent warrant commit the person ordered to pay to prison for a time specified in the warrant, unless the money and all expenses of the distress, commitment and conveyance to prison, to be specified in the warrant, are sooner paid.
- (2) When it appears to the court that distress and sale of property would be ruinous to the person ordered to pay the money or his family, or (by his confession or otherwise) that he has no property whereon the distress may be levied, or other sufficient reason appears to the court, the court may if it thinks fit, instead of or after issuing a warrant of distress, commit him to prison for a time specified in the warrant, unless the money and all expenses of the commitment and conveyance to prison, to be specified in the warrant, are sooner paid.
- (3) The period for which a person may be committed to prison in default of or in lieu of distress under this section shall be:
 - (a) if the person has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment in default of payment of a fine, the period to which he was so sentenced;

- (b) in other cases such period as the court considers reasonable subject to the maximum laid down in subsection (1) of section 26 relating to fines.

31 Payment after commitment

- (1) Any person committed for non-payment may pay the sum mentioned in the warrant, with the amount of expenses therein authorised (if any), to the person in whose custody he is, and that person shall thereupon discharge him if he is in custody for no other matter.
- (2) If any person committed to prison for non-payment shall pay any sum in part satisfaction of the sum adjudged to be paid, the term of his imprisonment shall be reduced by a number of days bearing as nearly as possible the same proportion to the total number of days for which such person is committed, as the sum so paid bears to the sum for which he is liable.
- (3) The officer in charge of a prison in which a person is confined who is desirous of taking advantage of the provisions of the preceding subsection shall, on application being made to him by such prisoner, at once take him before a court, and such court shall certify the amount by which the term of imprisonment originally awarded is reduced by such payment in part satisfaction, and shall make such order as is required in the circumstances.

32 Security for keeping the peace

- (1) A person convicted of an offence may, instead of or in addition to any punishment to which he is liable, be ordered to enter into his own recognisance, with or without sureties, in such amount as the court thinks fit, conditioned that he shall keep the peace and be of good behaviour for a time to be fixed by the court, not exceeding two years, and may be ordered to be imprisoned until such recognisance, with sureties if so directed, is entered into; but so that the imprisonment for not entering into the recognisance shall not extend for a term longer than six months:

Provided that no order shall be made under this section where the person convicted has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment of more than six months.

- (2) In addition to the powers conferred by subsection (1) of this section any Judge or Magistrate shall have power in any trial before him, whether or not the complaint be dismissed, to bind both the complainant and defendant with or without sureties, to keep the peace and be of good behaviour for a period not exceeding one year and may order any person so bound, in default of compliance with the order, to be imprisoned for three months or until such earlier time as he so complies:

Provided that a defendant who has been sentenced to more than six months' imprisonment shall not be bound over under this subsection:

And provided further that a complainant shall not be bound over under the powers contained in this subsection unless he shall have been given an opportunity to address the court personally or by an advocate as to why he should not be bound over.

33 Security for coming up for judgment

- (1) In any case in which a person is convicted before any court of any offence, if it appears to the court before which he is convicted that having regard to the circumstances including the nature of the offence and the character of the accused it is expedient to release the offender on probation, the court may, instead of sentencing him at once to any punishment, direct that he be released on his entering into a bond, with or without sureties, and during such period (not exceeding two years) as the court may direct, to appear and receive sentence when called upon and in the meantime to keep the peace and be of good behaviour.
- (2) If at any time the court which convicted the offender is satisfied that the offender has failed to observe any of the conditions of his recognisance, it may issue a warrant for his apprehension.
- (3) An offender when apprehended on any such warrant shall be brought forthwith before the court by which the warrant was issued and such court may either remand him in custody until the case is heard or admit him to bail with a sufficient surety conditioned for his appearing for sentence. Such court may, after hearing the case, pass sentence.

34 Provisions of Criminal Procedure Code relating to recognisance to apply

The provisions of sections 111, 112 and 114 of the Criminal Procedure Code shall apply mutatis mutandis to recognisances taken under sections 32 or section 33 of this Code.

35 Discharge of offender without punishment

Where, in any trial, the court thinks that the charge against the accused person is proved but is of opinion that, having regard to the character, antecedents, age, health or mental condition of the accused, or to the trivial nature of the offence or to the extenuating circumstances in which the offence was committed, it is not expedient to inflict any punishment, the court may, without proceeding to conviction, make an order dismissing the charge either absolutely or conditionally.

36 Committal of offenders under the age of sixteen to care of fit persons; binding over parent or guardian to exercise proper care

- (1) Without prejudice to the provisions of sections 32, 33 or 35, where in any trial the court thinks that the charge against the accused person is proved but is of the opinion that the accused is under the age of sixteen years and is in need of care, protection or control, the court may:
 - (a) without proceeding to conviction, make an order committing him to the care of any fit person, whether a relative or not, who is willing to undertake the care of him, and at the same time, or at any subsequent time on the application of the person to whose care the accused has been committed, make an order that the parent or guardian (if any) of the accused make a contribution towards the maintenance of the accused of such sum as the court, having regard to the means of such parent or guardian, thinks fit, and upon the making of such order the provisions of sections 28, 30 and 31 shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to such parent or guardian as they apply to an accused person; or

- (b) order his parent or guardian to enter into a recognisance with or without sureties, in such amount as the court thinks fit, to exercise proper care and guardianship.
- (2) Every order and every recognisance made or entered into pursuant to the provisions of subsection (1) of this section shall, unless some earlier date of termination is ordered by the court, remain in force until the person in respect of whom the order was made of the recognisance entered into, attains the age of eighteen years.
- (3) Any fit person to whose care, protection or control any person has been committed pursuant to the provisions of this section may at any time apply to the court for variation or cancellation of the order, and the court may vary or cancel the order or replace it by such order as may to the court appear expedient.
- (4) Any person committed to the care of a fit person pursuant to the provisions of this section who absconds therefrom may be arrested by any police officer without warrant and either brought before a Magistrate's Court or summarily returned to the care of such fit person; and in the case of any such person who is brought before a Magistrate's Court, such court may order that he be returned to the custody of such fit person, or if having regard to all the circumstances, it appears to such court advisable so to do, it may order that he be committed to the care of some other fit person.

37 Interpretation of “care, protection or control” and “fit person”

For the purpose of the preceding section, and without prejudice to the generality of the expression, a person shall be deemed to be in need of “care, protection or control”, who, in the opinion of the court, is not receiving such care, protection or control as a good parent or guardian may be expected to give or is beyond the control of his parent or guardian; and the expression “fit person” includes any local authority, religious institution, welfare association or other organisation able and willing to undertake the care, protection or control of persons under the age of eighteen years.

38 Payment of fine or compensation by parent or guardian of offender under sixteen years of age

Without prejudice to the provision of section 36, where in any case the accused person is charged with any offence for the commission of which a fine, costs or compensation may be imposed and the court is of opinion that the charge against the accused is proved but that the accused is under the age of sixteen years, it may, without proceeding to conviction, make an order that the fine, costs or compensation be paid by the parent or guardian of the accused, instead of by the accused, and in such event the provisions of sections 28, 30 and 31 shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to such parent or guardian as they apply to an accused person.

39 Issue of warrants and errors in orders or warrants

- (1) Every warrant for the execution of any sentence may be issued either by the Judge or Magistrate who passed the sentence or by his successor in office.
- (2) The court may at any time amend any defect in substance or in form in any order or warrant, and no omission or error as to the time and place, and no defect in form in any order or warrant given under this Code, shall be held to render void or unlawful any act done or intended to be done.

40 Police supervision

- (1) When any person, having been convicted of any offence punishable with imprisonment for a term of three years or upwards, is again convicted of any offence punishable with imprisonment for a term of three years or upwards, the court may, if it thinks fit, at the time of passing sentence of imprisonment on such person, also order that he shall be subject to police supervision as hereinafter provided for a term not exceeding five years from the date of the expiration of such sentence.
- (2) If such conviction is set aside on appeal or otherwise, such order shall become void.

- (4) If any person subject to police supervision who is at large in Solomon Islands refuses or neglects to comply with any requirement prescribed by this section or by any rule made thereunder, such person shall unless he proves to the satisfaction of the court before which he is tried that he did his best to act in conformity with the law, be guilty of an offence and liable to imprisonment for six months.
- (5) The Chief Justice may make rules for carrying out the provisions of this section.

41 General punishment for misdemeanours

42 Escaped convicts to serve unexpired sentences when recaptured

- (1) The time during which an escaped person is at large shall not be counted as part of the term of the sentence which he was serving at the time of his escape.

Payment of any sum so ordered to be forfeited may be enforced in the same manner and subject to the same incidents as in the case of the payment of a fine.

44 Suspended sentences

- (1) Subject to the provisions of subsections (2) and (3) of this section, a court which passes a sentence of imprisonment on any offender for a term not more than two years for any offence, may order:

- (a) that the sentence shall not take effect during a period specified in the order; or
- (b) that after the offender has served part of the sentence in prison, the remainder of the sentence shall not take effect during a period specified in the order,

Provided, that the period specified in the order shall not be less than one year or more than two years.

- (2) The provisions of subsection (1) of this section shall not apply where the offence involved the use or the illegal possession of a weapon.
- (3) A court shall not deal with an offender by means of a suspended sentence unless the case appears to the court to be one in respect of which a sentence of imprisonment would have been appropriate in the absence of any power to suspend such a sentence by an order under subsection (1) of this section.

- (4) A court which passes a suspended sentence on any offender for an offence shall not make a probation order in respect of another offence of which he is convicted before the court or for which he is dealt with by the court on the same occasion.

- (6) On passing a suspended sentence the court shall explain to the offender in ordinary language his liability under section 45, if during the period of suspension he commits a subsequent offence punishable with imprisonment.

45 Subsequent offence during period sentence is suspended

- (1) Subject to subsection (3) of this section, where an offender is convicted of a subsequent offence punishable with imprisonment committed during the period of suspension, the court before which he is convicted for the subsequent offence shall, unless the sentence has already taken effect, consider his case and deal with him by one of the following methods:

 - (b) order that the sentence shall take effect with the substitution of a lesser term for the original term;
 - (c) by order vary the original order made under section 44 by substituting for the period specified therein a period expiring not later than two years from the date of the variation; or
 - (d) make no order with respect to the suspended sentence, and a court shall make an order under paragraph (a) of this subsection unless the court is of opinion that it would be unjust to do so in view of all the circumstances which have arisen since the suspended sentence was passed, including the facts of the subsequent offence, and where it is of that opinion the court shall state its reasons.

- (2) Where a court deals with an offender in respect of a suspended sentence passed by another court, the court dealing with the offender shall notify the court which passed the suspended sentence of the manner in which the offender was dealt with.
- (3) Where a Magistrate's Court deals with an offender during the period of suspension of a sentence passed by the High Court, the Magistrate shall, after conviction of the offender and before passing to sentence, commit him in custody to the High Court for sentencing.

46 Discovery of further offence

- (1) Where during the period of suspension, a person is convicted by a court for a subsequent offence, but such court had no information of the suspended sentence, any court may, on receipt of information relating to such suspended sentence and the conviction for the subsequent offence, issue a summons requiring such person to appear at the place and time specified therein or may issue a warrant for his arrest.
- (2) A summons or warrant issued under subsection (1) of this section shall direct the person to appear or be brought before the court by which he was convicted in respect of the subsequent offence and upon such person appearing or being brought, the court shall deal with him under section 45 in respect of the suspended sentence.

47 Suspended sentence supervision order

- (1) Where a court passes on an offender a suspended sentence, the court may make a suspended sentence supervision order placing the offender under the supervision of an officer appointed for the purpose by the court, for such period as may be specified in the order not exceeding the period during which the sentence is suspended and subject to such conditions as to residence as the court shall consider necessary.
- (2) An offender in respect of whom a suspended sentence supervision order is in force shall keep in touch with the officer in accordance with such instructions as may from time to time be given to him by that officer and the offender shall notify the officer of any change of address.

- (3) If, at any time while a suspended sentence supervision order is in force in respect of an offender, it appears on information provided by the officer to the court of the area in which the offender resides that the offender has failed to comply with any of the requirements of subsections (1) and (2) of this section, the court may issue a summons requiring the offender to appear before the court at a time specified in such summons, or may, if the information is in writing and on oath, issue a warrant for his arrest.
- (4) If it is proved to the satisfaction of the court before which the offender appears or is brought under this section that he has failed without reasonable cause to comply with any of the requirements of the suspended sentence supervision order, the court may, without prejudice to the continuance of the order, impose on him a fine not exceeding 3,000 penalty units.

- (2) It is not necessary for libel that a defamatory meaning should be directly or completely expressed; and it suffices if such meaning and its application to the person alleged to be defamed can be collected either from the alleged libel itself or from any extrinsic circumstances, or partly by the one and partly by the other means.

194 Definition of unlawful publication

Any publication of defamatory matter concerning a person is unlawful within the meaning of this Part of this Code, unless:

Provided that nothing in this section shall exempt a person from any liability to punishment under any other Part of this Code or under the express provisions of any other Act in force within Solomon Islands.

Cases in which publication of defamatory matter is conditionally privileged

A publication of defamatory matter is privileged, on condition that it was published in good faith, if the relation between the parties by and to whom the publication is made is such that the person publishing the matter is under some legal, moral or social duty to publish it to the person to whom the publication is made or has a legitimate personal interest in so publishing it, provided that the publication does not exceed either in extent or matter what is reasonably sufficient for the occasion, and in any of the following cases, namely:

- (a) if the matter published is in fact a fair report of anything said, done or shown in a civil or criminal inquiry or proceeding before any court:

Provided that if the court prohibits the publication of anything said or shown before it, on the ground that it is seditious, immoral or blasphemous, the publication thereof shall not be privileged; or

- (b) if the matter published is a copy or reproduction, or in fact a fair abstract, of any matter which has been previously published, and the previous publication of which was or would have been privileged under the last preceding section; or
- (c) if the matter is an expression of opinion in good faith as to the conduct of a person in a judicial, official or other public capacity, or as to his personal character so far as it appears in such conduct; or
- (d) if the matter is an expression of opinion in good faith as to the conduct of a person in relation to any public question or matter, or as to his personal character so far as it appears in such conduct; or
- (e) if the matter is an expression of opinion in good faith as to the conduct of any person as disclosed by evidence given in a public legal proceeding, whether civil or criminal, or as to the conduct of any person as a party, witness or otherwise in any such proceeding, or as to the character of any person so far as it appears in any such conduct as in this paragraph mentioned; or

- (f) if the matter is an expression of opinion in good faith as to the merits of any book, writing, painting, speech, or other work, performance or act published or publicly done or made or submitted by a person to the judgment of the public, or as to the character of the person so far as it appears therein; or
- (g) if the matter is a censure passed by a person in good faith on the conduct of another person in any matter in respect of which he has authority, by contract or otherwise, over the other person, or on the character of the other person so far as it appears in such conduct; or
- (h) if the matter is a complaint or accusation made by a person in good faith against another person in respect of his conduct in any matter, or in respect of his character so far as it appears in such conduct, to any person having authority, by contract or otherwise, over that other person in respect of such conduct or matter or having authority by law to inquire into or receive complaints respecting such conduct or matter; or
- (i) if the matter is published in good faith for the protection of the rights or interests of the person who publishes it, or of the person to whom it is published, or of some person in whom the person to whom it is published is interested.

197 Explanation as to good faith

A publication of defamatory matter shall not be deemed to have been made in good faith by a person, within the meaning of the last preceding section, if it is made to appear either:

- (a) that the matter was untrue, and that he did not believe it to be true; or
- (b) that the matter was untrue, and that he published it without having taken reasonable care to ascertain whether it was true or false; or

- (c) that, in publishing the matter, he acted with intent to injure the person defamed in a substantially greater degree or substantially otherwise than was reasonably necessary for the interest of the public or for the protection of the private right or interest in respect of which he claims to be privileged.

198 Presumption as to good faith

If it is proved, on behalf of the accused person, that the defamatory matter was published under such circumstances that the publication would have been justified if made in good faith, the publication shall be presumed to have been made in good faith until the contrary is made to appear, either from the libel itself, or from the evidence given on behalf of the accused person, or from evidence given on the part of the prosecution.

- (a) an intention to cause the death of or grievous bodily harm to any person, whether such person is the person actually killed or not; or
- (b) knowledge that the act which caused death will probably cause the death of, or grievous bodily harm to, some person whether such person is the person actually killed or not, although such knowledge is accompanied by indifference whether death or grievous bodily harm is caused or not, or by a wish that it may not be caused.

203 Persons suffering from diminished responsibility

- (1) Where a person kills or is a party to the killing of another, he shall not be convicted of murder if he was suffering from such abnormality of mind (whether arising from a condition of arrested or retarded development of mind or any inherent causes or induced by disease or injury) as substantially impaired his mental responsibility for his acts and omissions in doing or being a party to the killing.
- (2) On a charge of murder, it shall be for the defence to prove that the person charged is by virtue of this section not liable to be convicted of murder.

- (3) A person who but for this section would be liable, whether as principal or as accessory, to be convicted of murder shall be liable instead to be convicted of manslaughter.
- (4) The fact that one party to a killing is by virtue of this section not liable to be convicted of murder shall not affect the question whether the killing amounted to murder in the case of any other party to it.

204 Cases in which intentional homicide is reduced to manslaughter

Where a person by an intentional and unlawful act causes the death of another person the offence committed shall not be of murder but only manslaughter if any of the following matters of extenuation are proved on his behalf, namely:

- (a) that he was deprived of the power of self-control by such extreme provocation given by the person killed as is mentioned in the next succeeding section; or
- (b) that he was justified in causing some harm to the other person, and that, in causing harm in excess of the harm which he was justified in causing, he acted from such terror of immediate death or grievous harm as in fact deprived him for the time being of the power of self-control; or
- (c) that, in causing the death, he acted in the belief in good faith and on reasonable grounds, that he was under a legal duty to cause the death or to do the act which he did.

205 Provocation

Where on a charge of murder there is evidence on which the court can find that the person charged was provoked (whether by things done or by things said or by both together) to lose his self-control, the question whether the provocation was enough to make a reasonable man do as he did shall be determined by the court; and in determining that question there shall be taken into account everything both done and said according to the effect which it would have on a reasonable man.

206 Infanticide

Where a woman by any wilful act or omission causes the death of her child being a child under the age of twelve months, but at the time of the act or omission the balance of her mind was disturbed by reason of her not having fully recovered from the effect of giving birth to the child or by reason of the effect of lactation consequent upon the birth of the child, then, notwithstanding that the circumstances were such that but for the provisions of this section the offence would have amounted to murder, she shall be guilty of felony, to wit, infanticide, and may for such offence be dealt with and punished as if she had been guilty of manslaughter of the child.

207 Causing death defined

A person is deemed to have caused the death of another person although his act is not the immediate or the whole cause of death in any of the following cases:

- (a) if he inflicts bodily injury on another person in consequence of which that other person undergoes surgical or medical treatment which causes death. In this case it is immaterial whether the treatment was proper or mistaken, if it was employed in good faith and with common knowledge and skill; but the person inflicting the injury is not deemed to have caused the death if the treatment which was its immediate cause was not employed in good faith or was so employed without common knowledge or skill;
- (b) if he inflicts bodily injury on another which would not have caused death if the injured person had submitted to proper surgical or medical treatment or had observed proper precautions as to his mode of living;
- (c) if by actual or threatened violence he causes such other person to perform an act which causes the death of such person, such act being a means of avoiding such violence which in the circumstances would appear reasonable to the person whose death is so caused;
- (d) if by any act or omission he hastened the death of a person suffering under any disease or injury which apart from such act or omission would have caused death;

- (e) if his act or omission would not have caused death unless it had been accompanied by an act or omission of the person killed or of other persons.

208 When child deemed to be a person

A child becomes a person capable of being killed when it has completely proceeded in a living state from the body of its mother, whether it has breathed or not, and whether it has an independent circulation or not, and whether the navel-string is severed or not.

209 Limitation as to time of death

A person is not deemed to have killed another if the death of that person does not take place within a year and a day of the cause of death.

Such period is reckoned inclusive of the day on which the last unlawful act contributing to the cause of death was done.

When the cause of death is an omission to observe or perform a duty, the period is reckoned inclusive of the day on which the omission ceased.

When the cause of death is in part an unlawful act, and in part an omission to observe or perform a duty, the period is reckoned inclusive of the day on which the last unlawful act was done or the day on which the omission ceased, whichever is the later.
